Spire Bridge Multifamily Fund V Factsheet

Overview

Spire Capital Pty Ltd ("Spire") continues to have high conviction in US Multifamily real estate as a resilient source of absolute returns, with low correlation to traditional asset classes. Spire Bridge Multifamily Fund V ("SBMFV") provides an opportunity to capitalise on the continuing thematic of increasing demand in Class B US multifamily housing, driven by an existing undersupply of housing, an ageing population, embedded student debt and the economic flexibility that renting provides. By partnering with Bridge Investment Group ("Bridge"), Spire seeks to leverage upon the strong historical performance and streamlined 'value add' strategy in order to provide attractive returns with a low risk profile.

As the USA progresses through the COVID-19 crisis, Class B multifamily apartments have experienced higher and more stable occupancy rates than their Class A counterparts, driven by the affordability factor. Given this, and resultant of the success of Bridge's predecessor multifamily funds, Spire returns to partner with Bridge to leverage from their deep industry experience and expertise, value-add strategy and in house synergies to best capture the emerging and enduring trends in the US multifamily space.

The Spire Bridge Multifamily Fund V ("the Fund") serves as an Australian unlisted unit trust that feeds into the Bridge Multifamily Fund V ("the Underlying Fund" or "Fund V"). The Investment Manager for the Underlying Fund is Bridge Multifamily V GP LLC, an affiliate of Bridge Investment Group LLC. The Key Target Metrics are as follows:

- 12-14% Net IRR
- 1.8x Net Equity Multiple
- Term of 10 Years from the Initial Closing

Sector Overview - US Multifamily Real Estate

The term 'multifamily' is one that may be unfamiliar to many Australian investors, quite simply because it is an asset class that does not yet exist in Australia. Multifamily describes an apartment complex or community, where all of the occupants are tenants, i.e. there are no owner-occupiers. The property is owned in whole by a single owner, often an institutional investor or family office. These can be large assets, providing between 300 and over 1,200 rental units in a single property. They can either be 'downtown' high-rise, or suburban low-rise, gated, 'garden-style' communities. Larger assets employ on-site property and leasing managers with 24/7 on-site security. Leases are for 12 months, although many tenants stay for much longer periods - from years to decades. Investors like the shorter-term leases in multifamily, as it allows quicker access to market increases than other property types.

Approximately 35% of US households are 'renters' and over the past 30-years, the multifamily market has grown to the point where it is the dominant provider of residential rental accommodation in the US. New household formation, immigration, a transient US workforce, and - increasingly - downsizing seniors, are all important demand drivers.

Seniors: As seniors households look to downsize, rental households could potentially increase by approximately 30% by 2030.¹

Under 35: Could potentially increase by 100,000 households per year through 2030 without young adults decoupling from their parents' home.²

Millennial Preference for Multifamily Rentals: Affordability of home ownership is increasingly out of reach, driving family-forming millennial households to rent rather than own

Immigrants: Net U.S migration is expected to increase by over 1 million persons per year through 2030.²

Multifamily has also grown to become the second largest commercial property asset class in the US, second only behind the commercial office market. The US multifamily market has deep liquidity, with over US$52.7 billion in assets traded in Q2 2021 aloneⁱ. This liquidity is also supported by many different lenders, including national and regional banks.

Passive, yield focused investors in multifamily are attracted by the low volatile nature of the income streams that stabilised (i.e fully leased at market rates), well managed multifamily apartment communities generate. A multifamily community with 1,000 tenants provides much less vacancy risk and rental volatility than a commercial office or industrial property of the same leasable area, which may only have a handful of tenants. As such, multifamily has been called the 'gold standard' for institutional property investors since the GFC.

This low risk profile of multifamily is particularly the case with Class-B multifamily properties, as evidenced by the Fund's US Investment Manager, Bridge Investment Group's experience with its portfolio of circa 9,000 Class-B units during the Global Financial Crisis. Their experience was an initial GFC induced fall in Net Operating Income (NOI) of 3%, but recovery into positive territory within 12-months as housing affordability became paramount. Over the past decade, national multifamily vacancy rates have fallen to below 5%, and rents for 'Class-B' assets - where the fund will focus - and have been increasing between 4% and 5% per annum. In addition, most new supply has been in 'Class-A' product, which needs to achieve much higher rents (often 3 to 4 times higher), than Class-B, due to their higher land and construction costs. There is negligible new supply of Class-B product. Also, value-add Class-B multifamily assets, can be acquired at significant discounts to replacement cost, sometimes in the order of 50%. This provides substantial pricing power relative to Class-A and caters to a much broader target market. These are the reasons that Class-B remains the 'smart' choice in US multifamily investing.

Investment Opportunity

The Fund will commit, as a single Limited Partner, capital into the underlying fund progressively during the capital raising period, which is expected to run through until end of Q4 2021. By doing so, the Fund will acquire a proportionate interest in the underlying funds' assets, at the original cost of those investments.

Bridge Multifamily Fund V ("Fund V") is a continuation and expansion of Bridge's historically successful strategy of investing in and adding value to Class B multifamily housing properties in liquid, high-growth secondary markets across the U.S. that feature strong macro-economic prospects.

¹Performance as at Q2 2021

Bridge Investment Group aims to identify specific target markets with a comprehensive, data-driven approach to analysing macroeconomic trends, with the intention of uncovering strong investment opportunities. Analytical metrics include detailed demand forecasts (household and employment growth, rent growth, occupancy gains), supply forecasts (as a % of inventory and with relation to jobs created), and pricing (cap rates, price per square foot) at the local level. Identified "target markets" are projected to have substantially higher household formation growth and employment growth during the next three years compared to the national average.

Bridge also holds a veteran perspective of national market trends, based upon multi-cycle experience. The Fund's senior investment team members' extensive underwriting and transactional experience facilitates sourcing, helps secure less-than-fully-marketed deals, and produces insights that help the Fund avoid or mitigate mistakes that other, less-experienced multifamily investors might make.

Household Growth (Q4 2020-Q4 2022f)

Strong fundamentals in Bridge Target Markets have bolstered multifamily rental demand above annual averages seen since the GFC:

- Submarkets within Bridge target markets are selected based upon strong employment/household growth forecasts and limited new competitive development.
- Bridge target markets are forecasted to have higher household growth than the U.S. by 100 basis points during the next two years.
- Accordingly, rent growth is projected to be nearly three times as high than the primary markets during the next two years.
